As you enter 21 Main Prime Steak House you sense that it is not your cookie-cutter steak house. Housed in a country like mansion, it majestically sits on a hill with a view of a private lake. The soft green and gold tones of the interior does not say "steak house." It's a pretty place.

The food, however, is that of a first rate steak house. Prime dry aged steaks are featured. We enjoyed the popular Porterhouse which was grilled to juicy perfection, and double cut American lamb chops were just as delicious. Side dishes which are huge include fresh chopped creamed spinach, and macaroni and cheese au gratin which was rich in flavor. Appetizers are not to be over looked. Clams casino in a terrific butter and light cream sauce were excellent, and Maryland style crab cake was plump and crisp on the outside. The wine list is mostly American and Italian and the list of specialty drinks is creative. Try the melon pineapple martini - guaranteed to be the best ever! Homemade desserts are large portions of glorious confections. Our favorite was the velvety smooth creme brulee. Executive Chef James Cavorti and his team create a culinary experience that is anything but ordinary.

Manager Arthur (Chip) Cheek is the consummate host. With years of experience he anticipates your needs and keeps things running smoothly. 21 Main Prime Steak House is decorated in restrained good taste. But there's nothing restrained about the food. Well educated diners will agree, it is a superb restaurant that rivals any top steak house.
